ANCBC Community Council Grants Guidance

What is the Community Council Local Grants Scheme?

As one of the Community Councils located in the ANCBC defined area of benefit in Annandale and Nithsdale, you are eligible for a grant of up to £2,000 each year.

The Local Grant Scheme enables participating Community Councils to respond to quickly to a locally identified need from a constituted community group for an appropriate project that will clearly demonstrate a community benefit. This provides an opportunity for the ANCBC fund to reach deeper into the community and have impact on a wider number of people.

How can a group apply?

The Scheme is coordinated by the Community Council that decides how applicants apply and how much they can apply for, ANCBC recommends this is set at a maximum of £500 but understands there may be instances where this is not the Community Council's preference.

Applications generally take the form of a letter to the Community Council. Decisions are then made at its own meetings. Applicants must state how much they would like to apply for, what they plan to spend the grant on, and how this would benefit the community. ANCBC is aware that in general the Scheme Rules governing Community Councils require meetings be held in public. ANCBC considers it appropriate to make decisions on Local Grant awards in public.

How does such a scheme benefit communities?

Community Councils are encouraged to make these funds available for onward local grant making but are also able to use the funds for their own projects where they benefit the community. If a Community Council selects to use all or part of the award for project/s that the Community Council itself is leading then this decision must be clearly minuted. The reason for this is to guard against perception or accusation from other groups that funds are not being made available fairly for other groups to apply to. All awards must demonstrate a local community benefit and fit the criteria overleaf.

How do ANCBC monitor local grants?

ANCBC requires the Community Council to complete a short monitoring report outlining the local grants it has distributed, including their value and purpose plus reasons for any rejections. There is a standard template for this, which is sent to the Community Council with payment for the year. The template includes a question on how the scheme was promoted and any steps the Community Council plans to take in the coming year to improve local promotion. Monitoring reports are due in by 31st August each year and any subsequent year's grant will not be released until the report has been submitted to and approved by ANCBC along with the most recent set of accounts.

The Community Council must ensure that the amount disbursed and the balance reported is reflected in their accounts as funded by ANCBC. The Community Council may therefore wish to consider how it evidences local grant payments in its own records/accounting procedures. It may ask the applicant to provide receipts or to simply acknowledge the grant in writing by way of a receipt.

Community Councils should maintain all records of how funds have been spent, including receipts and documents relating to the project for a period of seven years. ANCBC does not need to see this paperwork, just the monitoring report and accounts mentioned above. . In the case of a Community Council being disestablished then all unspent grant funds allocated through the Local Grant Scheme should be paid back to ANCBC.

Who can apply to the Community Council for a local grant?

Any constituted community group in your Community Council area can apply for a local grant. If a constituted community group in your area is seeking funds for a project up to £500 we would encourage them to apply directly to their Community Council in the first instance either personally or by letter. If they are seeking more than £500, we would encourage them to apply to ANCBC's main fund

There are likely to be instances where these funds could assist an initiative or project which does not require a full application to the fund. Some examples of awards include:

- £250 to a group to support the start-up of a keep fit class.
- £150 toward the costs of an annual bus trip for a horticultural society.
- £230 to a new art group towards their start-up costs.
- £200 to a football club for goal nets.

Awards are generally allocated on a first come first served basis but Community Councils are expected to administer local grants thoughtfully and fairly. This does involve at times refusing an award.

How do local people know about the Local Grant Scheme?

We ask that you promote the Local grants scheme to your local community and to let us know how you have done this. Posters, email mailing lists, newsletters and social media are all good ways of promoting the fund to local residents.

How often can a Community Council access a Local Grant?

Community Council grants are distributed annually by cheque or a BACS transfer every autumn.

- If you have spent the full £2000 we will award you another £2000 to enable your organisation to continue offering a local grants scheme to the local community.
- If you have spent less than £2000 that year then you will only be eligible to claim the amount that you have spent to bring your total back up to £2000.

How do ANCBC publicise awards?
